A candidate should ideally create one user id and can apply for unlimited no of subject under each registration ID, maintaining the university guideline. The candidate has to pay RS 60/- for each application. The bank challan will be generated online when the application procedure becomes complete. The bank challan has to be submitted to any branch of the Punjab National Bank (for which PNB will charge RS 20/-).

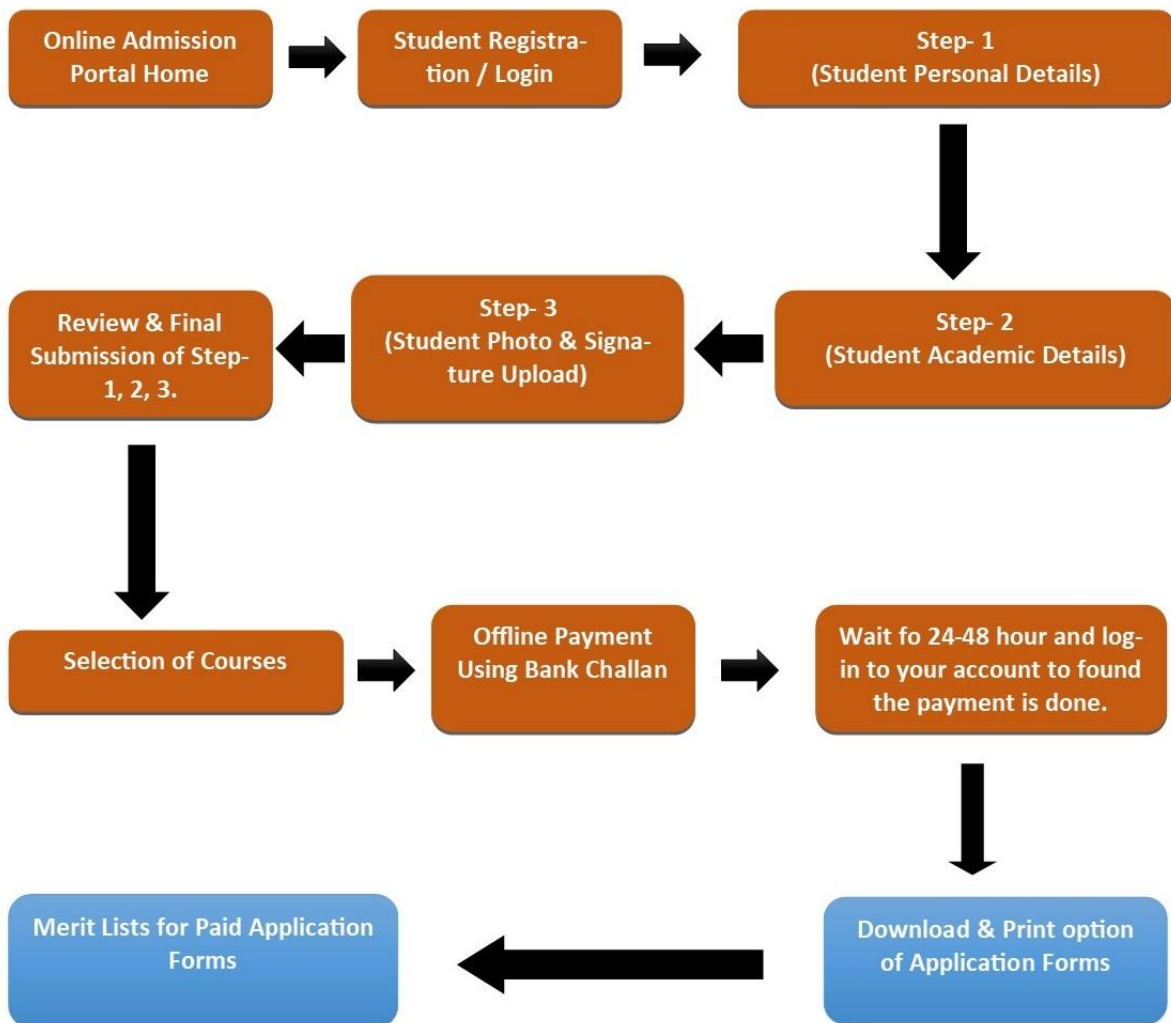

Candidates are requested to take note that in case an applicant applied for multiple courses at multiple points of time with separate user ID, He/She have to submit separate bank challans. Therefore, candidates should try to apply as many as courses in a single application procedure to avoid multiple bank challan fees.

The students can apply for courses multiple time. For example a student apply for 3 courses, take a printout of challan and submit it in the bank. After payment verification he/she can take printout of form of applied courses. Now if the candidate wants to apply for another courses, he/she can apply for it in the portal with same user ID.
